Rifampicin, also known as rifampin, is an antibiotic used to treat several types of bacterial infections, including tuberculosis, Mycobacterium avium complex, leprosy, and Legionnaires' disease. It is almost always used together with other antibiotics, except when given to prevent Haemophilus influenzae type b and meningococcal disease in people who have been exposed to those bacteria.

Of course, the "typical conditions" in those experiments did not include keto dieters. However, there was an experiment in 1971 that did test the blood glucose response to protein in people who had restricted carbohydrates to ketogenic levels for one week, and compared it to the values after reintroducing carbohydrates for a week ⁴. The group size was small, and the keto-adaptation time ...
