A perfect evocation of the beautiful, strange, frightening, funny territory of new motherhood. Kiesling writes with great intelligence and candor about the surreal topography of a day with an infant, and toggles skillfully between the landscape of Daphne's interior and the California desert, her postpartum body and the body politic.

Abusa Sep 21 2018 9:15 pm I absolutely loved this show, even though it's longer by 4 episodes from all the kdramas I've previously watched I couldn't get enough of it and after finishing episode 20 I wanted 20 more episodes. That characters and how they storylines interlink was beautifully done, I even liked Jea Suk in the end which is a miracle on its own.

Y Jul 26 2017 6:39 am Okay. So some scenes are somewhat nostalgic because it was aired in our country few years ago and this is the only time that I binge watched it. Well, I didnt expect muchhhhhhhh in this drama since I know it is like musical and about some school stuff only, the first episodes are kinda boring but as time goes by it became exciting and exciting.
