The butterfly effect in the Lorenz attractor; time  $0 \leq t \leq 30$  z coordinate : These figures show two segments of the three-dimensional evolution of two trajectories (one in blue, and the other in yellow) for the same period of time in the Lorenz attractor starting at two initial points that differ by only 10<sup>-5</sup> in the x-coordinate. Initially, the two trajectories seem coincident, as ...

A dynamical system is a manifold  $M$  called the phase (or state) space endowed with a family of smooth evolution functions  $\Phi_t$  that for any element of  $t \in T$ , the time, map a point of the phase space back into the phase space. The notion of smoothness changes with applications and the type of manifold. There are several choices for the set  $T$ . When  $T$  is taken to be the reals, the dynamical ...

In chaos theory, the butterfly effect is the sensitive dependence on initial conditions in which a small change in one state of a deterministic nonlinear system can result in large differences in a later state.. The term, closely associated with the work of Edward Lorenz, is derived from the metaphorical example of the details of a tornado (the exact time of formation, the exact path taken ...
